Reflections from Fr. Daryl

May 1st is the feast day of St. Joseph the Worker. As a carpenter, St. Joseph used his gifts to use the wood from trees created and provided by God to build tables, chairs and other household furnishings for the people of his community. Doing all to provide a home for Mary and Jesus. As was the custom of the day, Joseph would pass these skills on to his son Jesus. When Jesus returned to his hometown, people wondered how he was able to perform miracles and speak in the manner he did, as he was known as the son of a carpenter.

The Church provides us with this feast in order to remind us of the dignity of our work. When God placed Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden, he did so with the charge to cultivate the garden and care for it. Thus establishing from the beginning our responsibility to care for the earth and build up what God has given to us. Work was not meant to be a burden, but rather a means through which we are to give glory to God.

In our world today, for too many, work is seen as a necessary burden in order to provide for the things we need and want in our lives. We wake up in the morning with a mindset that we have to go to work today. With this mindset, work will be something that we must get through before we can do what we want to do.

God, our loving father, has given us the gifts and talents necessary to complete the very work we do each day. He invites us to see the work we do as a means through which we can give him honor and glory. When we approach our daily tasks with this mindset, we will see much more clearly that we get to go to work. This will allow us find more joy in the work that we are doing each day.

St. Joseph the Worker gives us a model for the way in which we approach our work. As a just and holy man, Joseph would have performed his work with diligence and care. Recognizing that what he built would go to someone who would use it on a regular basis. He would build each piece with care and attention, so as to provide the best product for his customers. Let us pray to St. Joseph the worker that we may fulfill our work and duties in the same manner. Knowing that in all things, we are to give glory to God. May God bless the work of our hands so that we may build up his kingdom.

This is a great experience for our youth to become active stewards of their time and talents. Many thanks to the youth and the sponsoring adults.

DISHES AND PANS

Your wonderful food for funerals is always appreciated. Now, we have an abundance of dishes and pans from previous dinners. Please take time to come by the office hallway and claim your articles.

STEWARDSHIP

We know stewardship is more than just chores that need to be accomplished in the parish or at home, such as cleaning the church, mowing the grass, or ushering at Mass; while these jobs need to be done, stewardship is more about how we treat our parents, visiting our grandparents, and raising our children in the Catholic Faith: it's about relationships. All of these "duties" or "responsibilities" can often feel like chores that have to be done, but when we approach the sharing of our gifts in gratitude, realizing all is a gift, then we realize Jesus is our friend, not a taskmaster. We realize He wants a relationship.
