Reflections from Father Daryl

I am the living bread that came down from heaven; whoever eats this bread will live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh for the life of the world. (John 6:51)

From the earliest days the Catholic Church has taught and firmly held true that Christ is present in the Eucharist. At the words of consecration, Jesus becomes fully present, body and blood, soul and divinity. Through the last 2000 years, there have been numerous Eucharistic miracles to confirm his real presence. Also, many saints have lived for years solely on the Eucharist. Here are examples of each of these.

“Around ad 700 a priest in a monastery in Lanciano had serious doubts about the Real Presence of Christ in the Eucharist. One morning at Mass, as he finished saying the words of consecration, the host suddenly turned into a circle of flesh and the wine became visible blood. The astonished priest realized that God had just dramatically answered his doubts. The people in the Church were amazed, and soon the whole town buzzed with the news of a miracle. The host and blood were put on permanent display in the church.

This miracle has been examined through the centuries, without any trace of fakery. Pope Paul VI encouraged a scientific investigation in 1971, by Italian doctors using sophisticated equipment. They concluded that the flesh is real human flesh and the blood is real human blood. The flesh is from a human heart, expertly dissected. The blood is type AB, and has all the normal proteins found in fresh human blood. Even though the flesh and blood have been exposed to the air for 1200 years, they are biologically undamaged.” (Beginning Apologetics 3)

“A German lay woman, Therese Neumann (1898-1962), lived the last 36 years of her life without any food or water other than Holy Communion. In 1922, at the age of 24, Therese’s body rejected any food but the Eucharist. At the direction of her spiritual advisor, she did have a sip of water to help her digest the host. By 1926, even the water proved unnecessary.

Receiving Holy Communion gave her a surge of energy, allowing her to engage in vigorous farm and house work. She required no sleep, often going to the local church at night where she prayed, cleaned the sanctuary, and arranged the altar flowers. The host would sustain her for almost one full day. At the end of each 24-hour period, she could feel her life ebbing. Receiving the Eucharist again restored her strength. Several times over the years, diocesan officials, doctors and scientists thoroughly examined Therese’s life. They always concluded that the only thing keeping her alive was Holy Communion.” (Beginning Apologetics 3)

For more details of these miracles and many others, please see Eucharistic Miracles (Rockford, IL: TAN Books, 1997) by Joan Carroll Cruz.

As we celebrate today the Feast of Corpus Christi, let us renew our firm belief of the presence of Christ in the Eucharist.
