Reflections from Fr. Daryl

Brothers and sisters: The Spirit comes to the aid of our weakness; for we do not know how to pray as we ought, but the Spirit himself intercedes with inexpressible groanings. And the one who searches hearts knows what is the intention of the Spirit, because he intercedes for the holy ones according to God's will. (Romans 8:26-27)

In our second reading for today's Mass, St. Paul reminds us of the gift of the Spirit who comes to us in all things. It is the Holy Spirit who teaches us to pray and intercedes for us, that we might know and fulfill God's will for us in our lives. We are invited to place our complete trust in God to guide us in all that we do.

In our human nature, we can get stuck on our past or worry too much about our future, while at the same time, not recognizing what God is asking of us today. St. Padre Pio would offer the following simple prayer: God, my past to your mercy; my future to your providence; my present to your love.

My past to your mercy. When we reflect on our past, we find joys and sorrows, successes and failures. We give thanks to God for the joys and successes and we seek mercy for the sorrows and failures. The Spirit comes to the aid of our weaknesses, allowing us to overcome them and restore us to the fullness of grace through the mercy of our Lord.

My future to your providence. God has a plan for each of us. When we seek to know and follow that plan, it will be filled with life and joy. Jesus has promised us that united to him, his joy will be ours and our joy will be complete. The Spirit will intercede for each of us to guide us according to the providence of God for our lives.

My present to your love. It is God who has first loved us. He has created us to live in his love and to share his love with one another. We are not expected to do great things, but rather we are expected to do all things in his love. Our life will be complete when we receive and accept his love into our hearts and in turn seek to offer his love to one another.

May each of us seek to live as holy ones according to God's will.

To register call the Spiritual Life Center at 744.0167 or visit the website, www.slcwichita.org to register. Registration is $145 single and $120 double until August 7.

STEWARDSHIP

Today's readings center on the presence of sin in the world. The first reading speaks to the opportunity for repentance, the psalm speaks of forgiveness, Paul writes that the spirit intercedes and guides us toward righteousness, and Jesus uses another parable to teach about the very real presence of evil amongst God's people. As stewards of God's gifts, we are tasked with seeking goodness and truth and allowing the Spirit to dwell within us. We must recognize sin and turn away from it. And when we fail, we must turn back to the Lord in the Sacraments, allowing His gift of grace to restore us!
